

MANY FAMOUS GUESTS AT HOTEL TRAYMORE

Atlantic City Hostelry Looked Upon as One of Finest in World.

Atlantic City has recently become the national winter resort of America. To it from all quarters of the United States now come many of those who in former days sought the famous resorts of Southern Europe, but who now find that in the delightful South Jersey place of entertainment they have greater comforts and much more attractive surroundings than they were able to find through thousands of miles of travel and the expenditure of large sums.

Favored of nature and happily situated on sandy shores, with miles of boardwalk skirting the broad Atlantic, with sunshine practically all the year round, and blessed with hotel accommodations second to none in the world, it is no wonder that Atlantic City has become the mecca of the seekers after pleasure, health, and recreation.

The largest fireproof hotel in the world is the Traymore at this resort. The success of the modern Traymore is due to the efforts of Mr. White, president of the company; Joseph Walton Mott, the general manager, and to the work of his efficient staff of associates. The Hotel Traymore was erected at a cost of a little more than $5,000,000. It provides every comfort, convenience, and luxury in an atmosphere of charm and distinction. It is a monument to the achievement of American architects and American builders. The architects, Messrs. Price & McLanahan, resolved to produce a new American style of architecture, and so well did they succeed that the persons most skilled in architectural design and the best informed in art have declared the Traymore to be the finest example of American architectural creation.

Many notable persons have found entertainment under the hospitable roof of the new Traymore. It was the pleasure of the Hotel Traymore management to entertain President Wilson and Mrs. Wilson and a party during a visit last September. President and Mrs. Wilson dedicated the Presidential suite. A little later came Vice President and Mrs. Marshall, who occupied a beautiful suite on the thirteenth floor, affording a view of the Atlantic for more than thirty miles. The recent American-Mexican Commission, which considered at length the difficulties between the United States and the Mexican government, stopped at the Traymore.

CHINA CABLE SILENT; NO NEWS FOR DAYS

State Department Concerned Over Interruption of Communication.

Grave concern over conditions in China was manifested at the State Department last night when it was announced that for three days the Department has been without despatches from Minister Paul Reinsch at Peking.

The Department was unable to assign any reason for the interruption in cable communication, but there was renewed reports of German commerce raiders operating in the Pacific. It was stated that the China cable had been either cut or had developed some strange trouble about 100 miles west of Guam.

All efforts of the United States in China have been directed toward keeping the great Mongolian republic out of the present world war, and recent reports from Peking have been disquieting. It has been understood that this would result in the reorganization of the Chinese army under Japanese officers.

This possibility aroused grave concern among American officials, who saw in it another Japanese step toward controlling China, and another move toward closing the "open door" in China. The State Department is extremely anxious for word from Minister Reinsch, whose latest despatches, it was understood last night bore on the question of China's neutrality.

The Colombian congress has adopted a measure providing for the appointment by the minister of public instruction of a commission to investigate methods for promoting saving throughout the country.

SPUTTER! SPUTTER! ARE SPIES 'RADIOING'?

No, No, Heavens, No; Just the Ice-Covered Trolley Wires Flashing.

"Washington is attacked. An invading force of aeroplanes is above us and some hidden wireless outfit of extreme high power is sending news out to the invaders that the time is ripe to make war on other cities of the country."

These were the thoughts which immediately flew to the minds of residents of the outskirts of the city Friday night when they were startled from their peaceful slumbers by innumerable strange crackling sounds and sharp flashes of light.

The sounds resembled those made by high powered wireless when in sharp action, and the light was similar to that given off by flash signals. But after all, when it was fully investigated, it was discovered that the source was all nothing, and that trolley wires covered with ice were responsible for all the trouble.

PREPAREDNESS PARADE CROWDS CITY SALOONS

Bottle Trade Brisk When Visitors Realize Inaugural Is Dry.

"The bottle parade" promises to surpass the inaugural procession. Of course, when it comes to pageantry there will not be much to the bottle parade, but there are promises that there may be some fireworks.

Washington saloons yesterday did three days' business in one. Drinks were not sold by the customary glass, but by the bottle.

And it all happened because the District became "bone dry" last night at 12 o'clock, and will remain so until 7 o'clock Tuesday morning, and thus it comes to pass that this city will have a foretaste of the Sheppard prohibition bill.

Senators Morris Sheppard, of Texas, and James A. Reed, of Kansas City, and others who lined up with the "dry" will have the satisfaction of explaining to their constituents who are visiting here just what it is all about.

No doubt many of these constituents will be very much inconvenienced. Last night the location of the nearest saloon was far more important to many incoming visitors than where they could get accommodations. Only the late-comers and the uniformed will therefore be dry over inauguration day.

When it comes to drinking before Tuesday morning some very stringent police regulations which prohibit the "drinking" of any kind of alcoholic beverage, including near-beer on any government reservation or on any street, avenue or alley must be observed.

Coppers who have been so rash as to arrest any one during the past forty-eight hours will have to roll out early for the District branch of the Police Court will convene at the save-daylight-hour of 7:30 tomorrow morning.

PARADE PERISCOPES HERE FOR INAUGURAL

Invention will Enable Short Persons to View Pageant.

The "parade periscope" hit Washington today. Right out of the submarine zone and the trenches of northern France a young Washington professor has lifted an idea that is going to make it possible for any one—no matter how small in stature or how far back from the curb—to see the great parade Monday.

It's an honest-to-goodness periscope, exactly like the ones the war has developed.

In the trenches soldiers, when they want to see what is going on in front and know that it is sure death to stick up a head, simply raise a periscope and survey the entire landscape with the top of their head inches below the top of the trench.

The little man, or perhaps the big man, who gets jammed in the crowds tomorrow about fifteen rows back from the curb with nothing but hats and heads in front of him, can hoist his "parade periscope," clamp his best eye to the keyhole and sweep the parade for blocks with his gaze.

And it is no bother at all to carry one of the things about.

The periscope is a hollow metal tube fourteen inches long and two inches in diameter. In each end of the tube are small mirrors, set at an angle of forty-five degrees and facing each other. A hole is cut into the tube opposite each mirror, on reverse sides of the tube. The eyehole is about as large as a quarter, and the peephole at the top as large as a half-dollar.

The are of vision, via the periscope, is practically as large as with the naked eye, and by slightly twisting the periscope in one direction or the other it is possible without turning the head to look straight down or up the Avenue.

Doctors Stand Amazed at Power of Bon-Opto to Make Weak Eyes Strong—According to Dr. Lewis

Guaranteed to Strengthen Eyesight 50%
In One Week's Time in Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Pilled and Use at Home.

Philadelphia, Pa.—Victims of eyestrain and other eye weaknesses, and those who wear glasses, will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope and help for them. Many whose eyes were failing, say they have had their eyes restored by this remarkable prescription and many who once wore glasses say they have thrown them away. One man says, after using it: "I was almost blind. I could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without my glasses and my eyes do not hurt any more. At night they would pain dreadfully. Now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me. A lady who used it says: 'The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for 15 days everything seemed clear. I can read even the print without glasses.' Another who used it says: 'I was bothered with eyestrain caused by overworked, tired eyes which induced severe headaches. I have worn glasses for several years both for distance and work, and without them I could not read my own name on an envelope or the type writing on the machine before me. I can do both now and have discarded my long distance glasses altogether. I can read the fluttering leaves on the trees across the street now, which for several years have looked like a dim green blur to me. I cannot express my joy at what it has done for me.'"

It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discern them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting and using them. Eyestrain and other eye weaknesses may be wonderfully benefited by the use of this prescription. Go to any optician or druggist and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. From one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and let it dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation and redness will quickly disappear. If your eyes better even a little it is your duty to take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have saved their sight if they had cared for their eyes in time.

Note: Another prominent physician to whom the above article was submitted said: "Yes, the Bon-Opto prescription is truly a wonderful eye remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to oculists and specialists and widely prescribed by them. I have used it very successfully in my own practice on patients whose eyes were strained through overwork or much glasses. I can highly recommend it in cases of weak, weary, aching, smarting, itching, burning, red, hot, blood, watery eyes, or for eyes inflamed from exposure to smoke, hot dust, or wind. It is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for local use in almost every family. Bon-Opto, referred to above, is not a latent medicine or a secret remedy. It is an ethical preparation, the formula being printed on the package. The manufacturers guarantee its restoration of eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any drug store and is sold in 15c and 50c bottles. Dr. Lewis' name, Leggett's store, and other druggists. Ad."
